Message from the President  (Former)

As my term as President comes to a close, it is so nice to reflect on the many talented and dedicated people that I have encountered and the wonderful friendships formed, as a result of those encounters over the past several years. When I first became involved with GSWS in 1998, I admired so many artist members in this organization, which back then, I knew by name only. Since then, I have had the privilege of meeting, working, and getting to know so many of these gifted people, which for me has been an honor and the best part of being President.

These past several years have gone by very quickly. Aside from looking forward to some serious painting again, I shall now begin embarking on new adventures, but will remain actively involved with GSWS. It is comforting to know that the Society will remain in the very capable hands of Carole Bleistein. Aside from being an exceptional and dedicated Vice President, Carole has been a kind and caring person whose friendship I value deeply. I know she will do an outstanding job as President and I look forward to our continued relationship.

I would like to thank Jennifer Cadoff, Livy Glaubitz and Lucy McVicker, who after four years have retired from their multiple positions. Also, many thanks to Annette Novoa, Publicity Chair, and Robyn Rosenbaum, Website Coordinator, for their dedication and hard work. It was a pleasure to work with all of you and I wish you much success in your future endeavors.

I would also like to thank our continuing 2005 Board Members and welcome some new, which include the following: Carole Bleistein, President, Sandy Jones, First Vice President, Connie Gray, Treasurer, Carolyn Peterson, Recording Secretary, Alice Warshaw, Corresponding Secretary, Carolyn Peterson, Membership Chair, Marge Chavooshian, Historian, Diana Wilkoc Patton, Newsletter, Morgan Macom, Database Administrator, Beth Kanior, Publicity, Ned Russell, CPA, Karen Bannister, Hospitality, Joan McKinney, Fall Workshop Chair, and Jack Hand, Website Coordinator. Many thanks to Carolyn Peterson, who will be filling two positions this year. Without dedicated volunteers like this, GSWS will cease to exist. I urge you to give something back and become involved in your organization. The experience and rewards are invaluable.

Happy New Year to everyone and I shall look forward to seeing you at our future events!

Barbara March, President 2003 & 2004

Message from Our New President

During the past two years, I have had the pleasure of meeting quite a few members of the Garden State Watercolor Society. For many of you, however, I may still be a new face, but one who will, hopefully, become more familiar during the next two years. I look forward to meeting all of you and to renewing the acquaintance of those I've already met.

One of my first and most memorable early experiences in the GSWS was to have a piece juried into our "Associate Members' Exhibit" shortly after I started painting. As you might expect, I was overjoyed to have been accepted and to have been given the opportunity to show my work for the first time. It was then that I began to understand the importance of an organization like GSWS for artists and for the communities in which we exhibit.

In my volunteer work for the organization (first as Membership Chair, then as Second Vice-President, and First Vice-President), I have worked closely with our outgoing President, Barbara March. During her tenure as President, Barbara has taught me a great deal about GSWS and it is through her expert tutelage that I have come to realize what a truly exceptional organization we are and how fortunate I am to be a part of it. I'd like to take this opportunity to thank Barbara for all her help to me personally, for her dedication to excellence, and for her extraordinarily hard work on behalf of the GSWS.

I'd also like to thank you, our members, for the confidence you have shown in me by confirming me as your new President. Be assured that I will do my best to meet your expectations and to see that the Garden State Watercolor Society continues to maintain the high standards for which we are known. Also know that I will always be available to address your concerns and to answer any questions you may have. It is with a sense of challenge and excitement that I look forward to representing the Garden State Watercolor Society as your President.

Carole Bleistein, President
HAPPY THIRTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY GSWS!

ANNUAL OPEN JURIED EXHIBITION - "PUSHING THE ENVELOPE"

By Barbara March

In celebration of our 35th anniversary year and our founder, Dagmar Tribble, the Garden State Watercolor Society presented our Annual Open Juried Exhibition, "Pushing The Envelope" at the beautiful Montgomery Center for the Arts at the 1860 House from August 22 through September 26, 2004. This special show encouraged artists to expand their vision and explore the limitless possibilities of watermedia, while incorporating subject matter, design concept, and technique. We thank Montgomery Center for the Arts and Executive Director, Frances Chaves, for hosting our exhibit and for their continual support of GSWS.

We received one hundred and thirty submissions and had sixty-one pieces accepted by our jurors, Nancy Barch, AWS, NWS and James McFarlane, AWS. The sixty-one accepted artists were represented by twenty-nine Associate Members, twenty-six Full Members and six Non Members. Eight Full Members and eight Associate Members captured the sixteen awards, also selected by our jurors. We commend all artists who participated and congratulate all that were accepted and honored with award recognition.

Henry Chao received Dagmar Tribble Memorial Award
Sheila Grodsky received Nummie Warga Memorial Award
Evette Chasid received A Friend's Award, Dorothy & Charles Plahn, Jr.
Angelito David received Cotswold Industries Award.
Barbara March received President's Award.

Shelia Grodsky received Nummie Warga Memorial Award
Carol Staub received GSWS Award.

During the exhibition, GSWS presented two watercolor demonstrations and a gallery walk, which were open to the public. On August 29th, Nessa Grainger presented "Experiments with Watercolor and Collage" to a "standing room" only audience. On September 12th, Marge Chavooshian discussed the various painting techniques and thoughts behind the paintings and on September 19, Connie Gray presented "Experiments with Watercolor Canvas, Clayboard and Masa Paper". We thank them for their artistic contributions to the Society.

Our lovely reception and award ceremony was held on Friday, September 10th. A special thanks to Karen Bannister, Hospitality Chair, and Alice Warshaw for preparing a delightful array of food and drink, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Our exhibitions and events are planned far in advance and require a great deal of time and dedication from our staff of volunteers. I would like to thank our Board of Directors and Standing Committee Chairpersons and their committees for their hard work in bringing this exhibit to fruition and for their support throughout the year. Without these individuals, willing to give their time, these exhibitions would not be possible.

I would also like to thank our Benefactors, Sponsors, Patrons, Memorial Contributors and In-Kind Donors, who over the years have continued to support Garden State Watercolor Society with their very generous donations.

We look forward to another wonderful year of GSWS exciting events and our Thirty-Sixth Annual Juried Exhibition, scheduled from September 10th through October 25th once again at the lovely Montgomery Center for the Arts at the 1860 House.

Angela Barbalace received American Frames Corp. Award.

Eighth Annual Associate Member Juried Exhibition 2004 - Triangle Art Center

By Barbara March

The Garden State Watercolor Society was most pleased to present the works of our very talented Associate Members in our Eighth Annual Associate Member Juried Exhibition from October 16th through November 20th, 2004 at Triangle Art Center, Lawrenceville, New Jersey.

I would like to thank Joseph Teti, President and CEO of Triangle, Shawn Kiernan, Merchandise Manager, and the staff of Triangle for hosting our exhibition this year and for their continual support of our organization, which began very early on when Dagmar Tribble founded the Society in 1970. We look forward to a continued relationship and hope to make our Associate Member Exhibition at Triangle an annual event.

Our jurors, Lucy Graves McVicker and Gregory Bruno, both accomplished and major award winning artists, selected forty-nine pieces for the exhibition. Lucy and Gregory also selected the eight award winning paintings totaling $675 in cash and gift certificate prizes, which were presented at the reception on October 23rd, 2004. The First Place Award for $250 was presented to Karen Bannister, for "Steve". The Second Place Award, a $200 Gift Certificate, sponsored by Triangle, was awarded to presented to Sandra Lee Jones for "The Gipper", and the Third Place Award for $100 was presented to Donna Senopoulos for "Monmouth Street, Red Bank". There were five Honorable Mention Awards of $25 each presented to Norma Griffith for "Across The Marsh", Robert Lowe for "Center Bridge Villa", Carolyn Peterson for "Hey Romeo", Carol Sanzalone for "Howell Garden", and Alice Warshaw for "Misty Morn".

I would like to extend a special thanks to Carole Bleistein and Jennifer Cadoff for their assistance in chairing this exhibit along with Carolyn Peterson, Connie Gray, Karen Bannister, Alice Warshaw and Joe Knuth.

We congratulate all of the participating artists and award winners and look forward to our next Associate Exhibition in the fall of 2005.

Watercolor Workshop Big Success

Joan McKinney, Garden State Watercolor Society's workshop facilitator, obtained the renowned watercolorist Janet Walsh to do a Floral Workshop for us. For four days the rooms at the Montgomery Center for the Arts, the 1860 House, was filled with the lovely sights of florals being created. All the participants thoroughly enjoyed the workshop, learning a lot, and painting even more. We thank Joan for all her hard work setting up the workshop and seeing that everything ran smoothly each day, and we are delighted that Janet Walsh could spend the week with us. We look forward to seeing the painterly results of this inspiration! Our next Workshop will be in September and Joan tells us we will be hosting the well known painter of vibrant watercolors, Dan Burt. More on this will follow in your next Newsletter.

Watercolors on Display online

"Watercolors from the Garden State II" is the name of the juried show which will be online March 8th at www.newamgallery.com. Russ Johnson announced that the deadline for slides for this show was February 5th. The competition offered both cash prizes and gallery medals and was open to NJ residents only. The juror for the show is Tony Ventura. This is to be the only juried show this year, as the rest of 2005 is devoted to invitational exhibitions. The one which started January 10th features three New Jersey artists, Marge Levine, Elissa Prystauk, and Theresa Troise Heidel (watercolors, pastels, and oils). Do visit this interesting site developed by GSWS own Associate Member Russ Johnson!
GSWS New Full Members

As a result of the Garden State Watercolor Society Thirty-Fifth Annual Juried Exhibition, the following have become Full Members: Evette Chusid, Angelito David, Joan LePore, Lynn Nicoletti, and Nancy Schwam.

We heartily congratulate all of them and welcome them into Full Membership! This issue, let us introduce Angelito David and Lynn Nicoletti.

ANGELITO L. DAVID, “Lito”, born and raised in Balanga, Bataan, Philippines, graduated from the University of Santo Tomas, Manila, and in 1962 was awarded with a two-year painting Scholarship at the Accademia de Belle Arti in Rome. There he took up fresco painting and studied art conservation. In 1967 Lito held major exhibits in NY and Nashville, Tenn., while restoring documents and books at the Corcoran, the Carolyn Horton studios, and the J.P. Morgan Library. He returned to the Philippines in 1969, where, as a leading figure in the contemporary Philippine art scene, he had one-man shows and also won awards, medals, diplomas, and trophies in Italy, the USA, and the Philippines. Lito organized and headed the Watercolor Society of the Philippines and was an officer and prime mover in the Art Association of the Philippines. He was art consultant, authenticator, and appraiser of Philippine art in various institutions for years. As a dedicated teacher of young artists, Lito held professorial posts at the Fine Arts Dept. of the Philippine Women’s University, the University of the East, and the College of the Holy Spirit for over 22 years. Im migrating to the USA in 1992, Lito has continued to earn recognition for his artwork, winning major awards. He is a Full Member of the Hudson Arts of NJ and co-founder of the Society of Philippine Artists, a tri-state art organization. He is an Associate Member of the NJWC Society and the AWS. Lito has been published in the books CONTEMPORARY ART AND ART PHILIPPINES. He currently teaches at the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts in Summit.

LYNN NICOLETTI writes: “I am very happy to have attained Full Membership in GSWS. My husband and I are residents of North Brunswick, have four children and two grandchildren, with two more on the way. I love painting in watercolor and it seems to always paint flowers, another love of mine. However, lately I have discovered experimental watercolor painting to be quite a new experience. There is always that “surprise” happening.” Lynn enjoys watercolor workshops and tries to absorb as much information and techniques as possible. She has taken several workshops with Pat Dewes and Pat SanSoucie. She paints weekly with a group of artist friends (including her daughter) under the direction of Dorothy Yang. This past December the group had an exhibition at the Marlborough Library. Lynn’s one-woman shows include a recent one at the Milltown Municipal Building. Lynn has also exhibited with the Westfield Art Association (winning an Honorable Mention), the juried NJWC Society Associates’ Show (winning an Award of Honor), and the Juried Montgomery Arts Council, the 1860 House, Show (winning a First in Mixed Media).

We are so happy to have all of you as new Full Members!

Membership News

It’s been a while since our last chat. Summer and fall have come and gone, much quicker than any of us desired, but since wintry winds are blowing and it’s not the greatest weather outside to paint—come, sit, and read the news of Garden State Watercolor Society members in this, our 35th year of existence. My, you’ve been busy! Relax and read before you go back to painting!

SUSANNA ANASTASIA won “Best in Show” in Bedminster, NJ, an Honorable Mention at the State Juried Open, Island Heights, NJ. She was one of seven award winners, winning the Oil/Acrylic Award at the Ocean City Annual Boardwalk Show, in which 200 exhibitors showed their art, in August. The American Artists Professional League, with entries from all 50 states, held their 76th Grand National Exhibition at the Salmagundi Club Galleries in New York City in November, and gave Susanna the Windsor and Newton Award for her watercolor painting “Flora Dora”.

Associate LINDA ARNOLD was accepted into the juried Jane Law Gallery “Watercolor LBI” and into the Open Juried Exhibition of the Montgomery Center for the Arts, the 1860 House. Her painting was awarded Honorable Mention there. In November-December she was in a group show at the Gallery of the Somerset County Cultural & Heritage Commission. Linda continues to be the President of the Baritan Valley Arts Association and is presently in their group show at the Bernardsville Public Library Gallery.

RITA BODNER received the Mary Hill Memorial Award in the Catherine Lorillard Wolfe Art Club’s 108th Annual Open Exhibition at the National Arts Club in New York City on October 29th for her watercolor painting “Pebbles”. Rita was also juried into the Millburn-Short Hills Arts Center Annual Exhibition at the Dunham Library in Millburn.

Associate GAY BILLICH had two paintings in the Louisa Melrose Gallery Show “Seascapes” in August. Gay was also juried into the following shows: the Garden State Watercolor Society 35th Annual Exhibition at the Montgomery Center for the Arts, the NJ Water Color Society’s 62nd Annual Exhibition at the Montgomery Museum, the Montgomery Center for the Arts Annual Exhibition, the Garden State Watercolor Society Associate Members’ Juried Exhibition at the Triangle Art Center, and the National Collage Society’s 20th Annual Juried Exhibit at “The Mansion at Juried into the Tewksbury Historical Society and the Mountain Art Shows, Diana also was in the group show at the Somerset County Cultural & Heritage Commission Gallery. She had a one-woman show at the Milltown Municipal Building in November and her students had a show at the Somerset County Library. Diana ran the Raritan Valley Arts Association Show there the month of December. Diana also demonstrated techniques on clayboard and Yupo for the Essex Watercolor Club in December.

CAROLYN PETERSON was awarded Best in Show at the third Annual Gardens of the Garden State Exhibit sponsored by the Edison Arts Society. She was also juried into “Color Schemes and Screamers” and “Circles and Squares”, themed exhibits at the Gallery of the Edison Arts Society in the Sheraton Edison Hotel at the Raritan Center. Carolyn was also included in the 19th state Juried Exhibition held last April at the Ocean County Artists’ Guild. She was awarded an Honorable Mention in the 8th Annual GSWS Associates Exhibition. Currently her work is showing at the Pavilion Gallery at Virtus Memorial Hospital, Mount Holly, N.J., in an exhibit titled “Sea, Shore, Life.”

Associate CAROL STAUD was awarded an Honorable Mention at the 9th Annual Exhibition of The Experimental Artists of Alabama (held at the Wright Art Center Gallery of Samford University); the Ana Drobnik Award in the San Diego Society INTERNATIONAL Exhibit 2004; awarded a 4-person show for June 2005 at the A.E. Bean Backus Museum; and the GSWS Award at the Garden State Watercolor Society 35th Annual Juried Exhibition. Carol won First Place in the Gold Coast Watercolor Society 20th Annual Open Exhibition at the Coral Springs Museum of Art and taught a workshop “Collage and Mixed Media” at the Elliott Museum in Stuart, Florida in November. She participated in the National Association of Women Artists “Visions” exhibit at the Anna Norton Sculpture Gallery in West Palm Beach and was juried into the NJWC Society 62nd Annual Open Juried Exhibition at the Monmouth Museum. Recently Carol was juried into the California Watercolor Association 37th National Exhibit which will take place in April, 2005, in San Francisco at the Academy of Art University Gallery.

LINDA TAFFE was awarded the GWAC Medal of Honor for Watermedia with $500. in the 108th Annual Open Exhibition at the National Arts Club. Gramercy Park, New York City. The show ran from October 2nd until October 29th.

(Editors Note: the press release with Linda’s name included the following interesting information. The Catherine Lorillard Wolfe Art Club is one of the oldest women’s art clubs in the country. It was founded in 1896, in honor of Miss Wolfe, one of the country’s first collectors and the ONLY WOMAN among the 106 subscribers to the founding of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. In the early days the Club’s chief function was to provide aid, counsel, and exhibition space for women art students, for whom a life in art was a particular struggle. Later the focus shifted to women artists of professional standing. The Club’s home, since its founding, has been at the Grace Church Parish House in NY, where monthly meetings are still conducted. Not only USA citizens, but those of several foreign countries, are members.)

DEBBIE TINTLE was awarded Best in Show at the Essex Watercolor Club Show at the Morris County Library in November.

JAMES TOOGOOD, A.W.S., has a new book, INCREDIBLE LIGHT AND TEXTURE IN WATERCOLOR, from North Light books. James brings sound advice and instruction for capturing the unique and expressive qualities of light and texture to artists of all skill levels, along with general information that even the non-artist will find fascinating. The book is available from your local bookstore or online supplier, and direct from North Light at 1-800-448-0915 or www.artistsnetwork.com.

GLORIA WERNIK had a one-woman show at the University Medical Center at Princeton Auxiliary from November 19th until January 19th. Her Opening Reception was on Friday, November 19th.

Associate THOMAS C. WILCZEWSKI exhibited his watercolors at the Little Silver Boro Hall October 5th to December 31st. Tom was the featured artist at "The Third Annual Timothy Nevlon Memorial Art Exhibit" Nov. 5th and 6th at the Food Bank of Monmouth and Ocean Counties, which benefited the Food Bank and the charities it serves. Tom was accepted into the NJWC Society 62nd Annual Open Juried Exhibit at the Monmouth Museum, as well as the Arts on the Hill, Kansas City Rehabilitation Institute Juried Exhibit in Kansas City, Missouri. His paintings were also shown at the Monmouth Beach Cultural Center Nov. 17th—Dec. 5th. He won Honorable Mention for his watercolor “Morning Mist” from the NJ-2AAPL 2004 Member Exhibition. Tom was commissioned to paint a watercolor for a retiring board member of the Bryn Mawr Rehabilitation Center, Malvern, Pa. It was entitled “Wilderness Crossing.”

Congratulations to all of you on your accomplishments! We really enjoy reading about them. And to all of you reading this, why not send me YOUR NEWS? Deadline is roughly May 15th, but you can send me notes any time with your news; it all goes into the box to await the writing of your next Newsletter.
CATALINA ISLAND—A World Apart

By Diana Wilkoc Patton

"Twenty-six miles across the sea
Santa Catalina is a-waitin' for me
Santa Catalina, the island of romance, romance, romance, romance*."

So near and yet so far—an hour's ferry ride from Long Beach, California is the famed isle of several songs, and the site of over 200 movies. This was the lovely island I chanced to explore last January (and I plan to fly there again soon!). My husband and I were visiting our oldest son and his fiancé, who live with Happy Dog on "Perdida", a turquoise blue sailboat off Catalina Island.

We didn't know what to expect—but, a dozen rolls of film later, I have to tell you it's lovely! And the source of many painting inspirations.

Eighty-eight percent of Catalina Island is protected—the Santa Catalina Island Conservancy, founded in 1972, oversees this wonderful island, and so its unspoiled beauty will hopefully remain just that, unspoiled. A naturalist's paradise, a place of wonderful plants and interesting birds and animals—the Dolpins playing. Grazing Buffalos. Catalina foxes, for example, and a great place for diving and snorkeling (not necessarily in January!), with many types of fishes. Even from the shore, though, one sees the bright orange Garibaldi, sometimes known as the "Ocean Goldfish" (since I have seven aquariums of goldfish, the Catalina goldfish alone is almost enough incentive for my presence there!).

PAINT-OUT In Princeton Huge Success

By Diana Patton

In the late afternoon all the work was put on exhibit in the various rooms of the manor, and a tempting hors d'oeuvres table with all sorts of cheeses, fruits, shrimp, wine, etc. was set up. Both artists and patrons enjoyed the art and the food while silent bidding was done. Prizes were awarded with the Best in Show going to Al Barker for an oil painting. GSWS Associate Member Donna Senopoulos won the award for the painting which best captured the spirit of Princeton Academy, for her watercolor "The Caretaker's Cottage". GSWS own Full Member Charles McVicker was one of the two judges.

After the Awards Ceremony artists went to retrieve their works, both the young student artists (who also sold their work), and the adults, and of 107 works, 55 sold! The highest selling price was $800; the lowest was $10. An upcoming issue of PLEIN AIR magazine is to have an article on the affair.

This artist is looking forward to next year's event!

We know you want to meet---------

CAROLYN PETERSON, our new Recording Secretary, who is also continuing to serve as our Membership Chairperson. Carolyn has been a member of GSWS since 1998 and "really enjoys working with this wonderful group of people."

Carolyn is an alumna of Moore College of Art and Design and has also studied in England and France. Her watercolors are found in private collections in the USA. She exhibits frequently and widely. Venues for exhibition include corporate galleries, schools and universities, hospitals, and churches. As well as GSWS, Carolyn is a member of the Edison Arts Society, an Associate Member of PWCS and of AWS. She is also a member of several organizations near her hometown of Cherry Hill. Her work has been exhibited online with the New American Gallery and on the website of EAS. Gallery purchasers include Bristol-Meyers Squibb and the Hi' Gallery, Trenton, NJ.

While watercolor is her first love, Carolyn is also an accomplished calligrapher and often combines these two disciplines.

miles long and eight wide, the coastline features many varied coves, basically reachable only by boat (and there are several day cruise tours available), as the interior of Catalina is a hilly, mountainous region.

Catalina has a most colorful history, beginning with the Gabrieleno Indians settling there around 500 B.C. Different Native American tribes lived there, but at the time of European discovery it was the Pimungs (or Pimuvit), who called their island Pimu. This happened in 1592, when Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo (and there is a cove named after him) came there. Since then there has been piracy and looting by various Europeans, occupation of the island by the Spanish, and development of the island by Mexico. Many Native Americans were lost to disease brought on by these new settlers. Suffice to say that eventually Catalina came under USA “ownership” and became part of California. A man named Banning bought the island, starting the Santa Catalina Island Company. Santa Catalina Island Co. was later bought by chewing gum magnate William Wrigley Jr. and it is he we can thank for basically giving Catalina Island Co. was later bought by chewing gum magnate William Wrigley Jr. and it is he we can thank for basically giving us Catalina.

Avalon (yes, like King Arthur’s fabled city) is THE (as in “only”) city on Catalina, and viewing it from the water, it appears as a pastel, multi-tiered spectacle of houses and trees rising up from the delightful deep blue semi-protected curve of the bay. Anchored on one side by the fabled Casino, a humungous white carved round building with a huge turret-type roof, and on the other by the Green Pier and several impressive turretd Victorians like Mt. Ada (Inn) and Holly Hill House, the whole is like Hawaii now. Avalon is on one end of Catalina; Two Harbors is almost all the way on the other. This is the “wild” side of Catalina, where Catalina looks almost like an hourglass, with Isthmus Cove and the big pier on one side, plus the restaurant/general store, the grade school, and the small village; Cat Harbor is on the other side—really just for boats, and more protected than either Isthmus Cove or Avalon. I spent a delightful afternoon shell-hunting and photo-taking with Kristy and Happy Dog (bringing a small shoebox of shells back to New Jersey).

If the beautiful scenery and the wildlife is not enough to attract any artist (or anybody) to Catalina, well then, just add the art galleries and Catalina Island Museum to the equation, or the picturesque houses, or other, more modern architecture. There are the Wrigley Botanical Gardens and the Adventure Tours in semi-submersible boats to “ride” through kelp forests. As for the houses themselves, for many of them think Cape May or Plainfield’s Crescent Avenue section, or Somerville’s older section, but think it in miniature, for these Victorians arose from a tent city years ago. Before there was a city called Avalon, there was Shatto Town, named after George Shatto, who purchased the island in 1887 (Avalon was so-named by George’s sister, who was partial to Alfred, Lord Tennyson’s “Idylls of the King”). From the late 1880s, visitors stayed in “Tent City” and eventually these sites, 20 wide and 50’ long, became the house lost! The area known to locals as “The Flats” in downtown Avalon is on the site of “Tent City”; these dwellings date back to the late 1800s and early 1900s.

One could spend a day tile-hunting, and photographing said tiles. Catalina was once the place for most wonderfully painted tiles, a great tile-manufacturing town. You can still purchase Catalina tiles, although they are not made in great abundance now, but more for the tourists. However, all along the waterfront, the walls are inset with decorative tiles; they are bordered with brightly colored tiles; and the benches and water fountains in town are adorned with them. You only have to look and admire and be totally charmed by the bright colors and varied surfaces! In fact, on our first visit to Catalina, my time was so spent with sea life and plant life, and buffalo, tiles, and walking the streets. I didn’t even get into the art galleries! Just let me quickly mention the buffalo, and maybe, the dolphins.

Eighty years ago 14 buffalo were brought to Catalina for the making of a western, the 1920s silent movie “The Vanishing American”. When the movie company returned to Hollywood, they “forgot” the buffalo. Since the animals grazed conservatively (i.e. they ate only the tops of plants, and not the roots), they did not hurt the island, ecologically speaking, and so the buffalo were allowed to remain. The herd grew, and at times reached 600 head. They are a popular part of the inland adventure and eco-tours! However—the usually sparse vegetation (for Catalina is a semi-arid land, with lots of cactus and desert palms) ideally supports only 150. The buffalo had to go. In November 98 buffalo were transported from Catalina to South Dakota, the second such emigration. The 98 went from some 42,000 acres on Catalina to 900,000 on the Lakota Indian reservation. A Lakota chief came over to preside over a special sacred ceremony, and as he was speaking, a lone bald eagle flew overhead (this, from Michael, who was videoing the ceremony for the conservancy), very moving!

As for the dolphins, they are there, and on our memorable trip on Perdida from Isthmus Harbor to Avalon, we were visited by two different pods, who surrounded us, and jumped and played all around us. We were all so excited, and photographing and videoing them, it’s a wonder we didn’t capsize Perdida. Happy was thrilled too, and watched intently not even barking. The dolphins made their wonderful clicking noises and we talked to them excitedly. One pod left and we saw others in the distance.

And so, on this joyous note, I shall end the Catalina Saga, perhaps returning to you with more, perhaps on the art of the island in June.
